

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQ) about Birthday Parties

Q: What kinds of activities are offered at Bricks' parties?

Activities depend on the package you select. The typical format is as follows:

Deluxe Package (1 hour)

- Party Host arrives 10 min prior to start time to set up
- Party begins with 10 min of self-directed Free Play with our giant tubs of bulk Lego (allows a buffer for any late arriving guests and allows teacher to get to know children and observe their building ability)
- Facilitated Motorized Model Build where each child builds and operates their own model using our proprietary designs (approximately 30 minutes)
- Remainder of the party (approximately 15 minutes) Lego Based Games and Challenges (selected based on age, activity level, space available and building ability)

Premiere Package (1.5 hours)

- Additional 30 minutes in this package allows children the opportunity to build their own mini-figure (10 minutes) and add another model build (Zipline activity)

*Please note that birthday parties run on a structured schedule and may change depending on the skill level of the children. In some instances, children may want to spend more time on the motorized build and there may or may not be sufficient time for the Games and Challenges activity. To ensure satisfaction please notify the party host of your preference for activities.

Q: What kind of space do you require?

A comfortable room and table(s) large enough to accommodate your child's guests and a few adults is necessary. Chairs are not required as children tend to stand when they are building. An additional space for games and challenges (such as a living room or playroom) is helpful.

Q: What if I don't want to have the party at my home?

We are happy to come to the venue of your choice. Some people choose to use their community facility or church space.

Q: What if I have more/less guests than your packages detail?

Our packages are grouped for your convenience and for maximum party fun. The prices are based on how many Bricks4Kids Party Hosts your group will require. For example, parties that have more than 10 builders may require two Party Hosts. Therefore, we do not generally price individual builders (except when the party sizes ranges between 15-20 builders).

Please note: The birthday boy or girl are included in the total number of builders in our packages (e.g. 10 builders including the birthday boy or girl).

Q: Can Bricks parties be themed (e.g., Star Wars)?

In our experience the best “theme” is Lego! Our model builds utilize assorted technic LEGO® NOT commercial sets. We find that kids love the opportunity to work with something different than what they have at home! We have many designs which we are happy to discuss with you that may tie in if you have a specific “licensed” theme in mind (i.e. Star Wars, Pirates of the Caribbean, Ninjago, etc.). This can also be incorporated into the games/challenges if you wish. Custom loot bags are available at an additional cost.

Q: What about girls?

We absolutely love throwing birthday parties for girls! LEGO® is a gender neutral activity; we build with girls in schools, classes and camps as well as birthday parties.

Q: What age ranges do Bricks' parties cater to?

Bricks 4 Kidz® curriculum ranges from 3-13+. We would love to work with you to design a fun and memorable event for your child and their guests.

Q: Do the birthday boys/girls and guests keep what they build?

Unfortunately, no. At the end of the activity, children will be asked to disassemble their motorized build which the party host will take upon departure. If you would like guests to leave the birthday party with a small LEGO® set, mini-figure or both, we offer our the option of purchasing a mini-figure factory build ($3.50 per child) or loot bags (contact us for pricing).

Q: Can the party guests eat and drink during the party?

We ask that party guests do not eat or drink during the Bricks4Kidz portion of the party (with exception to drinking water). Our birthday parties are often scheduled closely together on any given day – not allowing enough time to clean the bricks in between. To this end, to protect the health of all of our guests, we ask that builders wash their hands or use hand sanitizer (which we provide) prior to and after each build.

Q: How far in advance should I book?

Bricks 4 Kidz® birthday parties are extremely popular! We offer Saturday and Sunday bookings at 10:00am, Noon and 2:00pm. We can also accommodate weekday parties at 6:00 p.m. To ensure that you get your ideal date and time, please book your child's birthday party at your earliest convenience.
